England and the Canal.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—In the house today Under Foreign Secretary Grew said the government could not interfere in the matter of pending legislation in the United States regarding the Nicaraguan canal, but it had no reason to believe the United States would violate its treaty obligation.

The Elbe Disaster.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—There was a lively debate in the Reichstag today over the safety of ships at sea. Herr Bebel attacked the North German Lloyd, and said the crews of its vessels have never been drilled in the matter of closing water tight compartments. He declared the experiment in the matter of closing an apartment was made after the Elbe disaster on a sister ship, and it was found that it took ninety minutes to close the so-called air tight compartments. The statement caused a sensation.

THE CHALMETTE MONUMENT.

The Memorial of Jackson's Victory Is Now an Unhappy Sight.

Eighty years ago General Andrew Jackson gained his great victory over the British at the battle of New Orleans, losing but 7 men, while 2,000 of the enemy were killed, wounded or taken prisoners.

The memory of the victory is still green in the hearts of patriotic Americans, but the monument erected on the plains of Chalmette by congress in 1835 is now an unsightly ruin half hidden by a jungle of weeds.

The scene of the famous battle is four miles below New Orleans and is beneath the level of the Mississippi, which is only prevented from inundating it by the great levee near by. Street cars run to within 1½ miles of the spot, and the patriotic tourist must then push on through bogs and mud paddles the remainder of the distance to the dilapidated monument.

The memorable spot is so overgrown with weeds and has about it such an air of neglect that it seems forgotten by all the world. About ten years ago the monument was struck by lightning and its marble top knocked off. The brick foundation is now mouldering away, and between the bricks luxuriant weeds are growing. The anniversary of the battle is celebrated every year by the people of New Orleans and by Andrew Jackson clubs all over the country, and it seems unfortunate that some of the surplus patriotism is not devoted to keeping the Chalmette monument in repair. The subject has been brought to the attention of the Daughters of the Revolution, who will endeavor to have the monument placed in better condition.

Near at hand is the Chalmette national cemetery, where 12,521 graves of soldiers mark "the bivouac of the dead." Nearly 1,000 are the graves of the gallant British soldiers who were mowed down in 25 minutes by the hail of death from Jackson's batteries and Tennessee sharpshooters. The others are soldiers who fell in the war of the rebellion.

Schooner Anna Arrives—Austrian Army Officer Doing the Island—Politics Quiet—Plans of the Dramatic Association—Gamblers Arrested.

MAUI, February 23d.—The seventh dancing party under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Club took place at Dr. P. J. Aiken's residence, Paia, last Monday evening, the 18th. One of the pleasant features of the occasion was the watching of a brilliant thrash fire at Spreckelsville during veranda promenades. The large parlors were the scene of much life and merriment until 11 p. m., the customary time for the farewell dance. Much gratitude is due Mrs. B. D. Baldwin, Miss Chamberlain and others for delightful music.

During Wednesday, the 20th, Deputy-Sheriff C. W. Dickey rudely interrupted a pak-a-pio game at Kahului and made three arrests. The event took place in a building belonging to Ah Mi. Ah Fong, the banker, and one other principal were taken in charge. A tin of opium was also discovered. The prisoners are to be summoned for trial before the Waialuku Police Court during Monday, the 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy of Waikae, Hilo, who have been the guests of J. W. Colville at Paia, departed for home per Tuesday's Kinohi.

On the 22d a Japanese liquor case was brought before Judge Helekunihi of Waialuku. Two of the defendants were fined $100 and costs, and the third discharged.

The Maui Dramatic Association realized $50 above all expenses from the masquerade ball of last week.

Senator Hocking is still in Honolulu impatiently waiting for the opening of the legislature. Senator Baldwin has just returned from one of his frequent trips to Makaweli, and Senator Horner of Lahaina, who some months ago severed all connection with the Pioneer plantation, is now occupied with his large coffee interests.

A Children's Christian Endeavor Society has been recently formed at the Makawao Foreign Church, with Miss Grace Dickey as president.

Rudolph von Domkomicz, an Austrian army officer, has been doing Maui recently. He has visited Ulukoua, Kulu, and Haku, and is at present at Waikapu.

Ex-Judge Charles Copp has fifteen or sixteen acres of fine coffee at Kokomo, Makawao.

Akanalili, a well known Chinaman of Makawao, is soon to engage in cane-planting at Hana.

The Dramatic Association will hold their first meeting tonight (the 23d), to prepare for a grand minstrel entertainment to take place at Waialuku in April. They have recently elected six new and talented members, two from Spreckelsville and four from Kahului, making a total active membership of fifteen. When fully organized they intend to give some sort of public exhibition once a month, alternating between Waialuku and Spreckelsville. The proceeds from the coming April entertainment are to be devoted to some charitable institution in Makawao.

Nothing new in politics on Maui.

During the 18th, the schooner Anna, Norberg master, arrived in Kahului, fifteen days from San Francisco. She brought grain and hay for W. H. Cornwell, and fertilizer for Paia plantation. It is not known when she will depart, inasmuch as she will have to wait until the mills start grinding for a cargo of sugar.

The steamer Kahului is expected from San Francisco sometime during the latter part of next week.

Weather:—Cold, with a rain in the mountain regions during Thursday.

Hood's is Good Makes Pure Blood

Scrofula Thoroughly Eradicated.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: "It is with pleasure that I give you the details of our little May's sickness and her return to health by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. She was taken down with Fever and a Bad Cough.

Following this a sore came on her right side between the two lower ribs. In a short time another broke on the left side. She would take spells of sore mouth and when we had succeeded in overcoming this she would suffer with attacks of high fever and cruel bloody looking corruption. Her head was affected and matter oozed from her ears. After each attack she became worse and all treatment failed to give her relief until we began to use Hood's Sarsaparilla. After she had taken one-half bottle we could see that she was better. We continued until she had taken three bottles. Now she looks like and is as fat as a pig. We feel grateful, and cannot say too much in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla."
